*NB 'European Champions Clubs' Cup' figures include UEFA Champions League matches.
All figures include qualifying matches.*

NB The squad lists included in the Statistics Handbook are the A lists supplied to UEFA by the clubs. In addition, clubs are required to supply a B list of players born on or after 1 January 1989 and who have been with the club in question for an uninterrupted period of two years since their 15th birthday. These players are also eligible to play in the UEFA Europa League. See page 114 for more details. UEL Aps/Gls indicate appearances and goals in the UEFA Europa League group stage and knockout phase.

Introduction

Looking back on the first season of the UEFA Europa League, the overwhelming feelings have been satisfaction and pleasure.

Satisfaction that the competition made such a vibrant start, vindicating the new structure and flavour for a UEFA Cup that had lost some of its lustre. Satisfaction at the geographical spread of the matches, with the 48 Group Stage teams drawn from 24 different countries. But most of all, pleasure in the pride shown by the teams and their fans in being part of a tournament filled with goals, surprises and heroic performances.

A total of 4.435 million fans attended the 205 matches, with an average of 27.2 million TV viewers per match-week and an overwhelmingly positive public reaction to the revamped format, standardised kick-off times and greater availability of matches on TV.

But most important, of course, was the quality of the football and the atmosphere in the stadiums, and the UEL delivered on all fronts, with a fitting climax in Hamburg between two teams who had started the season with very different expectations.

Club Atletico de Madrid's disappointing results in their UEFA Champions League group saw them enter the UEFA Europa League at the Knockout Phase. However, with player confidence and fan belief intact, they went on a triumphant run that left the likes of Liverpool FC and Valencia CF in their wake.

For Fulham FC, their European campaign was richly endowed with a spirit of adventure and romance. Holders FC Shakhtar Donetsk, Juventus, one of the great names of European football, and Hamburger SV, desperate to play a final on home ground – all were defeated by a team that exemplified solidarity and collective strength.

The following pages tell the story of last season, revisit the rich heritage of the UEFA Cup, and examine the 48 clubs dreaming of glory in Dublin next May. This handbook deals in black and white facts – we leave the romance, the glory, the despair and the opinion to the media, the fans and the competing clubs themselves, all of whom we hope will find it a valuable guide to another thrilling season.

Frequently Asked Questions:

UEFA Europa League Regulations

The sections below have been summarised from the UEFA Europa League Regulations for information purposes only, in order to answer the most frequently asked questions about the competition organisation. For the official UEFA wording please see the competition regulations.

COMPETITION FORMAT

Group stage

If two or more teams are equal on points on completion of all the group matches, the following criteria are applied to determine the rankings (in descending order):

- higher number of points obtained in the group matches played among the teams in question
- superior goal difference from the group matches played among the teams in question
- higher number of goals scored away from home in the group matches played among the teams in question
- superior goal difference from all group matches played
- higher number of goals scored
- higher number of coefficient points accumulated by the club in question, as well as its association, over the previous five seasons

Round of 32

The 12 group winners and 12 runners up from the group stage qualify for the round of 32. The third- and fourth-placed teams are eliminated.

These 24 clubs are joined by the eight clubs finishing third in their UEFA Champions League groups.

The knock-out draw takes place according to the following principles:

- Clubs from the same association cannot be drawn against each other.
- The 12 UEFA Europa League group-winners and the four best third-ranked teams in the UEFA Champions League group stage are drawn against the 12 UEFA Europa League group runners-up and the remaining third-ranked teams in the UEFA Champions League group stage
- The winners and runners-up of the same group cannot be drawn against each other
- Group winners and the four best third-ranked teams in the UEFA Champions League group stage play the return leg at home

ELIGIBILITY OF PLAYERS

Clubs may register a squad list of 25 players. As a minimum, eight places are reserved exclusively for "locally trained players", with a minimum of four players being "club trained" rather than "association trained". A club trained player is defined as a player who between the ages of 15 and 21, and irrespective of nationality and age, has been registered with the club for three entire seasons or 36 months. An association trained player may have been developed by another club from the same national association under the same criteria. If a club has fewer than eight locally trained players in its squad, then the squad size is reduced accordingly.

For all matches from the start of the round of 32, a club may register a maximum of three new eligible players for the remaining matches in the current competition. The players must be registered by 1 February 2011.

One player from the above quota of three who has played UEFA club competition matches for another competing club in the current season may exceptionally be registered provided that the player has not been fielded:

- in the same competition for another club,
- for another club in the same competition

If the player's new club is playing in the UEFA Europa League, his former club must not have played in the UEFA Europa League at any point in the current season.

DISCIPLINARY MATTERS

As a rule, a player who is sent off the field of play is suspended for the next match in a UEFA competition.

From the first match in the group stage a player is suspended for the next competition match after three cautions in three different matches, as well as following any subsequent odd-numbered caution (fifth, seventh, ninth, etc.).

Single yellow cards and pending suspensions are always carried forward to the next stage of the competition.

The Trophy

The UEFA Europa League trophy weighs 15kg, stands 65 cm high and is silver on a yellow marble plinth, which carries the names and flags of the UEFA Cup and UEFA Europa League winners.

It was designed by Swiss artist Alex W. Diggelmann and crafted by the Bertoni workshops in Milan for the 1972 final. Unusually, it has no handles, its beauty lying in its simplicity. Just above the plinth, a group of players seem to be jostling for the ball. In fact they are supporting the octagonal cup which is emblazoned with the UEFA emblem.

While the trophy itself has not changed during the shift from UEFA Cup to UEFA Europa League, the regulations pertaining to it have. Previously, the original UEFA Cup was kept by the winners for 11 months, before being ceremoniously handed over to the host city of the next final. The holders were also entitled to keep a four-fifths size replica to celebrate their achievement. Under the UEFA Europa League regulations, the original trophy stays with UEFA and a full-size replica is presented to the winning club to keep.

Only four captains have managed to lift the trophy more than once. The most recent was Sevilla FC captain Javi Navarro, who led his team to victory in Eindhoven in 2006 and Glasgow in 2007. The only other captain to get his hands on the trophy in successive seasons was another Spanish defender, Real Madrid CF skipper José Antonio Camacho, in 1985 and 1986. Berti Vogts took slightly longer to complete his double, winning the trophy with VfL Borussia Mönchengladbach in 1975 and 1979, while Emlyn Hughes was victorious at the 1973 and 1976 finals with Liverpool FC.

Dublin Arena

The 50,000-capacity, all-seater Dublin Arena is built on the site of the legendary Lansdowne Road stadium, which until its demolition in 2007 was the oldest sports stadium in Europe.

The new stadium was opened on 14 May 2010 by Ireland's Taoiseach (prime minister) Brian Cowen, and staged its first match on 31 July on the occasion of the annual Combined Provinces rugby match.

The stadium's chief tenants are the Irish rugby union team and the Republic of Ireland football team, and the venue will also play host to regular concerts.
