Frequently Asked Questions:

UEFA Europa League Regulations

The sections below have been summarised from the UEFA Europa League Regulations for information purposes only, in order to answer the most frequently asked questions about the competition organisation. For the official UEFA wording please see the competition regulations.

COMPETITION FORMAT

Group stage

If two or more teams are equal on points on completion of all the group matches, the following criteria are applied to determine the rankings (in descending order):

- higher number of points obtained in the group matches played among the teams in question
- superior goal difference from the group matches played among the teams in question
- higher number of goals scored away from home in the group matches played among the teams in question
- superior goal difference from all group matches played
- higher number of goals scored
- higher number of coefficient points accumulated by the club in question, as well as its association, over the previous five seasons

Round of 32

The 12 group winners and 12 runners up from the group stage qualify for the round of 32. The third- and fourth-placed teams are eliminated.

These 24 clubs are joined by the eight clubs finishing third in their UEFA Champions League groups.

The knock-out draw takes place according to the following principles:

- Clubs from the same association cannot be drawn against each other.
- The 12 UEFA Europa League group-winners and the four best third-ranked teams in the UEFA Champions League group stage are drawn against the 12 UEFA Europa League group runners-up and the remaining third-ranked teams in the UEFA Champions League group stage
- The winners and runners-up of the same group cannot be drawn against each other
- Group winners and the four best third-ranked teams in the UEFA Champions League group stage play the return leg at home

ELIGIBILITY OF PLAYERS

Clubs may register a squad list of 25 players. As a minimum, eight places are reserved exclusively for "locally trained players", with a minimum of four players being "club trained" rather than "association trained". A club trained player is defined as a player who between the ages of 15 and 21, and irrespective of nationality and age, has been registered with the club for three entire seasons or 36 months. An association trained player may have been developed by another club from the same national association under the same criteria. If a club has fewer than eight locally trained players in its squad, then the squad size is reduced accordingly.

For all matches from the start of the round of 32, a club may register a maximum of three new eligible players for the remaining matches in the current competition. The players must be registered by 1 February 2010.

One player from the above quota of three who has played UEFA club competition matches for another competing club in the current season may exceptionally be registered provided that the player has not been fielded:

- in the same competition for another club,
- for another club in the same competition

If the player's new club is playing in the UEFA Europa League, his former club must not have played in the UEFA Europa League at any point in the current season.

DISCIPLINARY MATTERS

As a rule, a player who is sent off the field of play is suspended for the next match in a UEFA competition.

From the first match in the group stage a player is suspended for the next competition match after three cautions in three different matches, as well as following any subsequent odd-numbered caution (fifth, seventh, ninth, etc.).

Single yellow cards and pending suspensions are always carried forward to the next stage of the competition.
