President's Message

The fifteenth season of UEFA Champions League football is a special one. A year ago, we were celebrating the 50th anniversary of the first-ever final in the old 'European Cup' and using that as a good excuse for some nostalgic reading of the history books. This season, the emphasis is well and truly on the future - the future of the game and the future of the people who play it.

I'm referring to the new chapter in the regulations of this competition, where four places in each squad are earmarked for 'locally-trained players'. You might not think that this is a major change. But, as time goes by, more places will be reserved for them and the 2006/07 campaign marks the first step in what I think is a very right direction. It was a subject we had discussed in great depth within our Executive Committee, within all sectors of the game and with people in political circles. And it is a decision which has my wholehearted support. Fortunately, I am by no means the only one who believes that talent needs to be developed and not just bought. Those four places on the squad list represent a major step towards safeguarding the future of the game and encouraging clubs to pay even more attention to the development of locally-trained talent.

But I mustn't dwell too much on the broader scheme of things and ignore the more immediate future. After all, the 2006/07 season is also special because, for the first time, we have a Bulgarian club among the starters. That is satisfying because it gives a new set of fans the opportunity to live the UEFA Champions League experience. Once you've had a taste of it, you're always ready for second helpings. So I know how happy FC Steaua Bucuresti are to be back on the starting grid for the first time since the 1996/97 season. I know that the Danish fans are equally happy to have a team in the competition for the first time since 1998/99 and I want to congratulate FC København for having fought their way through two difficult qualifying rounds to earn their UEFA Champions League debut. They and PFC Levski Sofia bring the total of teams who have played in this competition to 99 and I trust we won't have to wait too long to get into treble figures.

I hope this publication gives you valuable information on the debutants and the seasoned campaigners who will all be dreaming of a place in the Athens final and who will, I am sure, offer us some thrilling football on the way.

Season 2006 – 2007

Regulations

SEASON 2006 – 2007

The format for the 2006/07 UEFA Champions League comprises a total of 125 matches. The fixture list includes only one group stage, from which the eight group-winners and the eight runners-up will progress to the first knock-out round. The third-placed club in each group will continue its European campaign in the UEFA Cup. The fourth team will be eliminated from UEFA club competitions.

If two or more teams finish the group stage level on points, the following criteria will be used in order to determine group standings:

- a) higher number of points obtained in the group matches played among the teams in question;
- b) superior goal difference from the group matches played among the teams in question;
- c) higher number of goals scored away from home in the group matches played among the teams in question;
- d) superior goal difference from all group matches played;
- e) higher number of goals scored;
- f) higher number of coefficient points accumulated by the club in question, as well as its association, over the previous five seasons.

Knock-out Rounds

In the draw for the first knock-out round, clubs from the same national association will not be drawn against each other. In addition, the winner and runner-up from the same group will not be drawn against each other; each group-winner will be drawn against a group runner-up; and the runner-up will play the first leg at home.

From the quarter-finals onwards, there will be no such stipulations. In other words, clubs from the same national association may be drawn against each other.

The dates for the knock-out rounds are as follows:

First knock-out round:	First leg	20/21 February 2007
	Second leg	6/7 March 2007
Quarter-finals:	First leg	3/4 April 2007
	Second leg	10/11 April 2007
Semi-finals:	First leg	24/25 April 2007
	Second leg	1/2 May 2007
Final (in Athens):		23 May 2007

For matches played under the cup (knock-out) system, if the two teams involved in a tie score the same number of goals over two legs, the team which scores more away goals qualifies for the next stage. If this procedure does not produce a result, i.e. if the two teams score the same number of goals at home and away, extra-time of two periods of 15 minutes shall be played at the end of the second leg. If, during extra-time, both teams score the same number of goals, away goals count double (i.e. the visiting club qualifies). If no goals are scored during extra-time, kicks from the penalty mark determine which club qualifies for the next stage.

The final is played as one single match. If the result stands as a draw at the end of normal playing time, extra-time of two periods of 15 minutes shall be played. If one of the teams scores more goals than the other during extra-time, that team shall be declared the winners. If the two teams are still equal after extra-time, the winners shall be determined by kicks from the penalty mark.

Eligibility of Players

Each club can register a maximum of 25 players for the UEFA Champions League, plus players from a 'B' list comprising footballers who (a) were born on or after 1 January 1985 and (b) have been eligible to play for the club continuously for at least two years since their 15th birthday. Players may be added to the 'B' list at any time during the season but, for players on the 'A' list, the registration deadline was at 12.00 CET on 1 September 2006.

Four players on an 'A' list of 25 must be "locally trained players". "Locally trained players" are of two categories: "club-trained players" and "association-trained players". A "club-trained player" is one who has been registered with his club for at least three full seasons in the period between 15 and 21 years of age. An "association-trained player" is one who has fulfilled the same condition but with another club - or clubs - within the same national association. Of the four places reserved for "locally trained players" no more than two may be filled by "association-trained players". If a club is unable to fill the four places reserved for "locally trained players", the squad will be reduced accordingly. In other words, a club unable to register any "locally trained players" would be limited to a squad of 21.

During the winter break, a maximum of three new players may be registered up till 1 February 2007, provided the total number of players on the 'A' list does not exceed 25. If a "locally trained player" is removed, he must be replaced by another one. Players who have already been fielded by another club in the 2006/07 UEFA club competitions will not be eligible. But, exceptionally, one of the three may be registered provided he has not been fielded by another club in the same competition.

Results & Rankings

Whatever happens, we'll still be friends. Thierry Henry and Ronaldinho give each other a firm handshake prior to the 2006 final at the Stade de France.

REAL MADRID CF STILL TOP THE LISTS

Strangely, the results of the 2005/06 campaign produced no significant changes at the head of the all-time ranking lists. In spite of a 'premature' departure from the competition, the all-time appearances and goalscoring rankings are still dominated by Real Madrid CF players, while Sir Alex Ferguson, despite his side's exit in the group stage, comfortably retains pole position in an appearance list for coaches where Arsène Wenger's run to the final now gives him a mathematical chance reaching treble figures during the 2006/07 season.

But the charts highlight the youth of the two teams who reached the final at the Stade de France. Of the current Arsenal FC players, only Thierry Henry and Freddie Ljungberg appear among the leading pack and one has to look even further down the list to find an FC Barcelona contingent headed by midfielder Xavi and captain Carles Puyol. It is quite interesting to see that, whereas last season gave them the aura of 'established stars' or 'experienced campaigners', Frank Rijkaard had previously sat on the bench at only eight UEFA Champions League matches; Samuel Eto'o had previously scored only five goals in the competition; and Ronaldinho, the champions' top scorer last season with seven, had previously hit only four.

However, the season allowed both clubs to make collective advances. FC Barcelona have now taken over third place from FC Bayern München in the all-time ranking; Arsenal FC have climbed into seventh place; and victory for FC Barcelona at the Stade de France allowed Spain to edge ahead of Italy in the all-time ranking for nations. The following pages indicate some of the further changes that stand to be made as the 2006/07 season gets under way.

NB: In the Italy section, AC Milan's victory over SV Salzburg on 28.09.94 was cancelled due to crowd disturbances, which caused an injury to a player of SV Salzburg.

According to the decision of UEFA's Control and Disciplinary Committee, confirmed also by the Board of Appeal, NO POINTS were awarded for this match but the score of (3-0) was maintained

The table includes both 1-0 'on-the-pitch' results from the abandoned games between AS Roma and FC Dynamo Kyiv on 15.09.04 and FC Internazionale Milano and AC Milan on 12.04.05 rather than the administrative 3-0 'result' decreed by UEFA.

Facts & Figures

Paolo Maldini wheels away after scoring the first-minute opener in the 2005 final. Having played in all of AC Milan's record total of five UEFA Champions League finals - including the biggest win: 4-0 over FC Barcelona in 1994 - it seemed as though the legendary defender, 36 at the time, would leave Istanbul as champion of Europe for the fifth time; he also won it in 1989 and 1990 when the competition was called the European Champion Clubs' Cup. But he was denied a winner's medal by Liverpool FC's unprecedented second-half comeback.

THE UEFA CHAMPIONS LEAGUE DATA BANK

The result at the Stade de France in 2006 final allowed 2-1 to join 1-0 as the most frequent scoreline in UEFA Champions League finals and maintained the statistic that only three finals have been decided by a margin of more than one goal.

It also allowed Juliano Belletti to become the third player after Basile Boli (Olympique de Marseille in 1993) and Predrag Mijatovic (Real Madrid CF in 1998) to have won the final with their only goal in the entire campaign.

On that night, the Stade de France in Paris Saint-Denis became the second venue after the Olympiastadion in Munich to stage the final more than once and it was in that magnificent scenario that, for the first time, teams from England and Spain met in the final.

Victory for FC Barcelona allowed Spain to edge ahead of Italy with the most titles since the UEFA Champions League kicked-off in the 1992/93 season.

The 2005/06 campaign also became the first in which the two semi-finals were decided by a 1-0 aggregate score, while the first knock-out round confrontation between Chelsea FC and FC Barcelona allowed the season to become only the second in which two games featured own goals by each of the two teams.

All this, and much more information from the UEFA Champions League data bank, is to be found on the following pages.

Records

This is the image that haunts Villarreal CF supporters. Jens Lehmann dives to gather the ball cleanly during the second leg of the semi-final at El Madrigal, where his last-minute penalty save denied the debutants a place in the final and extended Arsenal's run of clean sheets to 10 successive games. When he was sent off in the final, Lehmann's personal unbeaten run had been extended to 763 minutes dating right back to February 2005.

Season 2006 - 2007

NEW RECORDS FOR THE ARCHIVE

During 14 years, the UEFA Champions League has produced some astonishing score-lines, comebacks and individual performances. Some have made indelible marks on the history of the competition - such as Liverpool FC's comeback during the 2005 final in Istanbul or AS Monaco FC's astonishing 8-3 victory over a normally solid side like RC Deportivo La Coruña, which set a new record for the aggregate number of goals scored in a single match.

For the media - TV commentators in particular - it is invaluable to have a statistical reference work which, in the event of something exceptional happening, allows instant verification of precedents. Last season added some new records to the archives - most of them, it has to be said, of a defensive nature. Twelve matches in Group D, for example, produced an all-time low of 12 goals and five goal-less draws. Villarreal CF emerged as group-winners after scoring three times and conceding only one. And Arsenal FC's run to the final was underpinned by a sequence of 10 clean sheets shared between Manuel Almunia and Jens Lehmann, who starts the 2006/07 campaign with an unbeaten run dating back to February 2005.

Over the last decade or so, such information has been spread between Statistics Handbooks, Competition Guides and Press Kits. Now, the records and statistics have been gathered together in a handy reference booklet. Statistics are not usually the best of reading. But a glance at some of the records on the following pages evokes memories of some of the epic performances we have been able to witness during 14 seasons of UEFA Champions League football.

CLUBS WITH THE MOST MINUTES WITHOUT CONCEDED A GOAL

995 minutes [10 clean sheets] ARSENAL FC 27.09.05 - 17.05.06

GK: Manuel ALMUNIA (347 minutes [3]) / Jens LEHMANN (648 minutes [7]) - the run began after Markus Rosenberg (AFC Ajax) scored past Almunia after 71 minutes of MD2. Lehmann, who kept the first clean-sheet v AC Sparta Praha on MD3 before Almunia returned for the rest of the group stage, was reinstated for the knock-out rounds and extended the run with 6 more clean sheets, which included a last minute penalty-save from Juan Riquelme in the second leg of the semi-final at Villarreal CF.

He then lasted just 18 minutes v FC Barcelona, before becoming the first player to be dismissed in the final. Almunia remained unbeaten until the 76th minute when Samuel Eto'o scored to end the record run at 995 minutes

NB: Lehmann's personal run remained active at 763 minutes [8 clean sheets] dating back to 22.02.05 v FC Bayern München in the opening leg of first knock-out round.

GK: José Manuel REINA - last 39 minutes of the opening group game v Real Betis Balompíe on MD1 to 84th minute of first KO-game at SL Benfica on MD7

History

In the 1966 final, FK Partizan defender Branko Rasovic can only appeal for offside as he is outpaced by 32-year-old winger Francisco Gento, who speeds on his way to a record-breaking sixth winners medal, all of them with Real Madrid CF.

LANDMARKS DURING 50 YEARS

The 2005/06 season culminated in a final at the Stade de France which commemorated the 50th anniversary of the first-ever final, also played in the French capital. It represented a good excuse to look back over 50 years, to pinpoint the landmarks in half-a-century of competition and to speculate on the future of European club football.

As it happened, the final was disputed by two teams who had not won the UEFA Champions League trophy before. FC Barcelona had won their solitary title in the season immediately preceding the introduction of the UEFA Champions League, while Arsenal FC were more than happy to reach the final of the competition for the first time. It served to prolong the tradition that, whereas the history of the European Champion Clubs' Cup was marked by a succession of small 'dynasties', no club has exercised a dominance by successfully defending the UEFA Champions League title.

Since the competition was launched in 1955, just over 400 clubs - 401 in fact - have taken part and almost 13,000 goals have been scored. At first, entry was by invitation only, based on box-office appeal. These days, each and every champion is given a sporting chance to enter. The format remained essentially unchanged for decades until the UEFA Champions League was introduced in 1992. Since then, the formula has been constantly modified, looking for the ideal balance between all the components that make up the modern game. There was a good deal of comment when the second group stage was eliminated in 2003 with a view to lightening the workload by four matchdays and achieving a greater balance between league and knock-out football.

There is evidence to argue that the current format offers greater chances to the 'underdogs', with FC Porto and AS Monaco FC reaching the 2004 final; Liverpool FC playing the 2005 final while struggling to keep pace with the leaders in their domestic competition; and Arsenal FC doing likewise last season. Villarreal CF's achievement of reaching the semi-finals in the Spanish club's first-ever campaign also deserves to be printed in bold in the history books. But, ultimately, the title went to FC Barcelona, one of the pre-season favourites. Top-class performances by the favourites coupled with sterling displays by the underdogs provided irresistible entertainment for the fans - and the 2006/07 campaign seems likely to do the same.

UEFA Champion League

UEFA BADGE OF DISTINCTION

Five years ago, UEFA introduced a Badge of Distinction in order to pay a visible tribute to clubs which have played a dominant role in continental competitions. A special emblem, which can be worn on players' shirts, is awarded to any team which has won a UEFA club competition three times in succession or at least five times in total. This feat has been achieved in the Champion Clubs' Cup but never in the UEFA Cup or the UEFA Super Cup. The badge features a number, indicating the number of times that the club has been champion of Europe.

Real Madrid CF have earned the badge on two different counts. They are the 'top scorers' having been champions of Europe nine times, including five successive titles between 1956 and 1960. Only five other clubs are entitled to wear the UEFA Badge of Distinction. AC Milan changed the number on their badge from 5 to 6 by winning the final at Old Trafford in Manchester in 2003. And two clubs are entitled to put 4 on their badges: FC Bayern München, champions of Europe in 1974, 1975, 1976 and 2001; plus AFC Ajax, who notched a hat-trick in 1971, 1972 and 1973, going on to take a fourth title in 1995.

However, both have now been overtaken by the 2004/05 champions, Liverpool FC who, although they have never completed a hat-trick of successive wins, have been champions of Europe five times. They therefore went home from Turkey with the double bonus of being able to keep the trophy and of being able to add the Badge of Distinction to the famous red shirt. Curiously, nobody is on track to achieve that honour during the 2006/07 season, though FC Barcelona's victory at the Stade de France allows them to join a select band of seven clubs who have been champions of Europe on two occasions.

UEFA SELECTS 45-MAN SQUAD FOR 2006/07 SEASON

The referees who'll be in action during the 2006/07 UEFA Champions League will be selected from a pool of 45 officials: the 25 who have won places in UEFA's Elite Category along with 20 from the Premier Category.

The list has a somewhat unusual look this season, as the most experienced members of the squad that started the 2004/05 campaign are now absent. Kim Milton Nielsen - the first referee to reach the milestone of 50 UEFA Champions League appearances - has stepped down after reaching the age-limit, along with Pierluigi Collina and René Temmink.

The newcomers for the current season are five referees who are now members of the Premier Category. Gerland Lehner of Austria, Gianluca Paparesta of Italy and Nicolai Vollquartz of Denmark are joined by Anton Genov and Costas Kapitanis, who will raise the flags of Bulgaria and Cyprus as a new season of UEFA Champions League football gets under way.

The appointments for UEFA Champions League matches are announced two days prior to the match via Media Releases issued (and published on uefa.com) at approximately 11.00 CET on Sundays and Mondays prior to matchdays. In principle, each referee is accompanied by a team of two assistant referees and a 4th Official from the same country though, in some cases, an assistant referee from another national association may be drafted in with a view to offering him or her more international experience.

THE ELITE COACHES

Year after year, the leading coaches from UEFA's club competitions - and especially the UEFA Champions League - have been invited to Switzerland at the start of the new season to attend UEFA's Elite Coaches Forum. Year after year, they have expressed the view that it is in the UEFA Champions League, competing at the very highest level, that they can really assess their players - and, for that matter, themselves - in terms of coping with all the pressures of life at the top.

No fewer than 115 matches on the bench of Manchester United FC mean that Sir Alex Ferguson has accumulated more evidence than any of his colleagues. But, on the starting grid for the 2006/07 season, other experienced campaigners, such as Arsène Wenger (88 games), Fabio Capello (70) or Carlo Ancelotti (68) will be aiming to make up ground on the 'Mancunian maestro'.

Last season, thirteen debutants relished the chance to savour the UEFA Champions League experience: Danny Blind (AFC Ajax), Jan Ceulemans (Club Brugge KV), Serse Cosmi (Udinese Calcio), Stanislav Griga (AC Sparta Praha), Josef Hickersberger (SK Rapid Wien), Juan Ramón López Caro (Real Madrid CF), Per-Mathias Høggmo (Rosenborg BK), Alberto Malesani (Panathinaikos FC), Manuel Luís Pellegrini (Villarreal CF), Ralf Rangnick (FC Schalke 04), Urs Schönenberger (FC Thun), Frank Vercauteren (RSC Anderlecht) and Vladimir Weiss (FC Artmedia Bratislava). Their presence meant that, since the competition was born 14 years ago, 190 coaches have sampled the UEFA Champions League experience. The following pages contain all the names and all their track records in the competition.
