New Dates for Postponed UEFA Club Competition Matches

UEFA Cup games to be played on 20th September, Champions League 10th October

The postponed UEFA Club Competition matches (UEFA Champions League Wednesday matches and UEFA Cup Thursday matches) from this week have now been re-scheduled.

The eight UEFA Champions League Wednesday matches from match day one will be played on Wednesday 10th October (kick-off 20.45 CET). Today's postponed UEFA Cup first round matches will now be played on Thursday 20th September with the same kick-off time applying as the games scheduled for today.

Mike Lee, Director of Communications and Public Affairs said:

"The postponement of the games of this week was done as a mark of respect for the victims of the tragic events that occurred in the USA on Tuesday. After examining the international and club match calendar across Europe we believe that we have found the best possible solution for the re-scheduling of these matches. We have written to the national associations, leagues and clubs concerned and would ask for their full co-operation in the re-scheduling so that the matches may go ahead.

"Our thanks and understanding go to all those whose matches and travels have been disrupted by recent events."
