

Introduction

After donning the European crown for the first time at the old Wembley Stadium in 1992, FC Barcelona won their fourth title at the new one, where victory was a celebration of family values and club culture. Eleven of the 18 players who pulled on the blaugrana shirt to take on Manchester United FC had come through Barça's youth academy.

Footnote: for brevity, the UEFA Champions League is referred to in its abbreviated form of UCL; the UEFA Europa League is, where space is at a premium, referred to as UEL; if fewer than 25 player profiles appear in the club sections, it is usually because the club in question has been unable to fulfil quotas of club-trained and association-trained players to register a full squad; and statistics relating to player appearances and goals are as of 15 July 2011 unless otherwise stated.

UEFA CHAMPIONS LEAGUE 2011/12

Even though this is the nineteenth edition, the competition continues to bring UEFA Champions League football to new venues and to new groups of supporters. Just over half of the 2011/12 participants – 17 to be precise – were not on the starting grid for the 2010/11 campaign and five of the starters for the 2011/12 season had never played in the competition before. There are other clubs who cannot be labelled as debutants but return to the UEFA Champions League after long absences: GNK Dinamo Zagreb, for instance, had not qualified for the group stage since the 1999/00 season, while KRC Genk's previous appearance dated back to the 2002/03 campaign. Like the Belgians, APOEL FC of Cyprus are making their second appearance in the competition along with the Belarusian representatives, FC BATE Borisov.

As it happens, two of the five newcomers have been drawn into an immensely competitive Group A, where Manchester City FC become the eighth English club to take part in Europe's premier club competition and SSC Napoli the ninth team to raise the Italian flag. In a Group H which features two former champions of Europe, FC Viktoria Plzeň become the third team from the Czech Republic to enter the fray – and the first from outside Prague. Much the same can be said for Romania where, after FC Steaua București had been on the starting grid six times, the shift of power away from the capital has allowed FC Unirea Urziceni, CFR 1907 Cluj and, now, FC Oțelul Galați to make their debuts in the competition. A similar trend away from big-city domination also applies to Turkey, for whom Bursaspor became a non-Istanbul debutant last season. However, this season's fifth debutant has entered the competition by a different route, with Trabzonspor AŞ coming in at the eleventh hour – having previously played a UEFA Europa League qualifier – to replace Fenerbahçe SK in a move which underlines UEFA's zero-tolerance policy towards match-fixing issues.

For the third time, the play-offs at the end of August formed part of the centrally-marketed package and continued to offering drama and excitement to a global public. The results meant that teams from 18 different national associations went into the draw for the group stage in Monaco where, for the first time, UEFA's Best Player in Europe Award was presented to Lionel Messi who, along with his FC Barcelona team-mates, will be seeking to bury one of the UEFA Champions League hoodoos and become the first team to successfully defend the title. They and their 31 fellow starters are now on the road to Munich, where the third Saturday-evening final will be played on 19 May 2012.

This edition of the UEFA Champions League's annual Statistics Handbook introduces the players and coaches who will be performing to packed houses during the 124 matches which will lead to the final in Munich.

Regulations

Season 2011/12

SEASON 2011/12

The 2011/12 UEFA Champions League comprises a total of 125 matches: 96 in a single group stage involving the 32 qualifiers; 28 in home-and-away knock-out ties; and, of course, a final played as a single match at the Fussball Arena München. The winner and runner-up from each of the eight groups enter the knock-out phase; the third-placed teams are diverted into the UEFA Europa League; and the team placed fourth is eliminated from UEFA club competitions.

If two or more teams are equal on points on completion of the group matches, the following criteria are applied to determine the rankings (in descending order):

- a) higher number of points obtained in the group matches played among the teams in question;
- b) superior goal difference from the group matches played among the teams in question;
- c) higher number of goals scored in the group matches played among the teams in question;
- d) higher number of goals scored away from home in the group matches played among the teams in question;
- e) if, after having applied criteria a) to d), two teams still have an equal ranking, criteria a) to d) are reapplied to determine the final ranking of the two teams. If this procedure does not lead to a decision, criteria f) to h) apply;
- f) superior goal difference from all group matches played;
- g) higher number of goals scored from all group matches played;
- h) higher number of coefficient points accumulated by the club in question, as well as its association, over the previous five seasons (see paragraph 9.02).

Knock-out Rounds

In the draw for the "Round of 16", clubs from the same national association will not be drawn against each other. In addition, the winner and runner-up from the same group will not be drawn against each other; each group-winner will be drawn against a group runner-up; and the runner-up will play the first leg at home.

From the quarter-finals onwards, there will be no such stipulations. In other words, clubs from the same national association may be drawn against each other.

The dates for the knock-out rounds are as follows:

Round of 16:	First leg	14/15/21/22 February 2012
	Second leg	6/7/13/14 March 2012
Quarter-finals:	First leg	27/28 March 2012
	Second leg	3/4 April 2012
Semi-finals:	First leg	17/18 April 2012
	Second leg	24/25 April 2012
Final (at Fussball Arena München):		19 May 2012

For matches played under the cup (knock-out) system, if the two teams involved in a tie score the same number of goals over two legs, the team which scores more away goals qualifies for the next stage. If this procedure does not produce a result, extra-time of two periods of 15 minutes shall be played at the end of the second leg. If, during extra-time, both teams score the same number of goals, away goals count double (i.e. the visiting club qualifies). If no goals are scored during extra-time, kicks from the penalty mark determine which club qualifies for the next stage.

The final is played as one single match. If the result stands as a draw at the end of normal playing time, extra-time of two periods of 15 minutes shall be played. If the two teams are still equal after extra-time, the winners shall be determined by kicks from the penalty mark.

As UEFA retains the original trophy at all times, the winner receives a full-size replica at the end of the final. Any club which wins the trophy three consecutive times or five times in total will be awarded a special mark of recognition.

Eligibility of Players

Each club can register a maximum of 25 players for the UEFA Champions League, plus players from a 'B' list comprising footballers who (a) were born on or after 1 January 1990 and (b) who have been registered with the club for the previous two years without interruption. Players may be added to the 'B' list at any time during the season but a player can only be fielded if his registration has been submitted no later than 24.00 CET on the day before the match.

For the 2011/12 season, eight of the 25 places on the 'A' list are reserved for 'locally trained players'. These fall into two categories: 'club-trained players' and 'association-trained players'. A 'club-trained player' is one who has been registered with his club for at least three full seasons or for at least 36 months between the ages of 15 and 21. An 'association-trained player' is one who fulfils the same conditions but with another club - or clubs - within the same national association. Of the eight places earmarked for 'locally trained players' no more than four may be occupied by 'association-trained players'. If a club is unable to fill the eight 'locally trained' places, the squad is reduced accordingly. In other words, a club unable to register any at all would be limited to a squad of 17.

During the winter break, a maximum of three new players may be registered up till 1 February 2012, provided the total number of players on the 'A' list does not exceed 25. If a "locally trained player" is removed, he must be replaced by another one. Players who have already been fielded by another club in the 2011/12 UEFA club competitions will not be eligible. But, exceptionally, one of the three may be registered provided he has not been fielded the same competition; or by another club that is currently in the same competition.
