Draw Procedure

Competition Regulations (excerpt)

Paragraph 13.03.: The nine group winners in the qualifying group stage qualify for the final tournament, while the four best runners-up qualify for the play-offs. The two winners of the play-offs qualify for the final tournament.

Draw principles

- Article 16:
 - By means of a draw, the UEFA administration allocates the 12 teams that qualify for the final tournament into three groups (A, B, C) of four teams each.
 - The host association (Poland) being A1 and the two best-ranked teams in the UEFA Under-21 national team coefficient ranking for the final draw being B1 and C1.
 - The remaining nine teams are divided into two pots according to their position in the coefficient ranking (see below)

Final Draw Coefficient Ranking
Pos.	Country	Coefficient (Calculated according to Annex I of the competition regulations)
	Poland	Host country	A1
1	Germany	39,037	Pot 1
2	Portugal	38,378
3	England	36,621	Pot 2
4	Spain	36,536
5	Denmark	35,590
6	Italy	35,546	Pot 3
7	Sweden	34,259
8	Czech Republic	33,690
9	Serbia	31,060
10	Slovakia	31,057
11	FYR Macedonia	23,283

Draw Procedure

Draw phase 1:

- The draw starts with the teams in pot 1.
- The first team drawn takes position B1 and the second team drawn position C1.

Draw phase 2:

- The draw continues with the teams in Pot 3.
- The first team drawn is assigned to group A. In order to determine the position of the drawn team within group A, a ball is drawn from Pot A. A second ball is drawn from Pot 3 and assigned to group B. Once again, to determine the position of the team within group B, a ball is drawn from Pot B. The same procedure is repeated for Group C consecutively until all balls from Pot 3 have been drawn and the teams positioned in each group

Draw phase 3:

- The draw will be completed with the teams in Pot 2 using the same procedure as for Pot 3.
