Welcome to Belfast for the 2021 UEFA Super Cup

Dear Football Fan,

We are delighted to welcome you to the 2021 UEFA Super Cup match at the National Football Stadium at Windsor Park in Belfast.

The city of Belfast is looking forward to greeting the respective winners of last season's UEFA Champions League and UEFA Europa League titles, Chelsea and Villarreal.

Both clubs emerged victorious after tough campaigns, and they will be looking to add the Super Cup to this year's honours at the home of Linfield FC and the Northern Ireland national team, a venue that has played host to numerous memorable domestic and international matches over the years.

The UEFA Super Cup match is an important European football occasion because it heralds the start of a new season of UEFA club competitions.

It also gives national associations across Europe the chance to stage a showpiece event on the calendar. This year Northern Ireland will have the opportunity to play host to two teams of the highest calibre.

We can all anticipate an exciting and entertaining match to take us into the 2021-22 campaign.

Enjoy the action!

Aleksander Čeferin

UEFA President

Welcome message from the Irish FA President

On behalf of the Irish Football Association it gives me great pleasure to welcome the players, officials and supporters of Chelsea FC and Villarreal CF to the National Football Stadium at Windsor Park in Belfast for UEFA Super Cup 2021.

As an association we are proud to host this year's edition of the major European football showpiece which sees the winners of the UEFA Champions League take on the UEFA Europa League Champions.

Northern Ireland as a whole is looking forward to this encounter between two high-calibre European club teams.

Football is of huge importance in our country. In the true spirit of 'Equal Game', it brings a diverse range of people and communities together like no other sport, so it is great that we can host such an occasion. High profile European club games like this are normally the preserve of much bigger nations.

I would like to thank UEFA for bringing the match to Belfast. Hosting this fixture confirms that, like us, UEFA believes the National Football Stadium is a compact world class venue capable of staging high profile international and club matches. It is a huge honour!

I should also like to thank the dedicated staff in both UEFA and the Irish FA for their hard work in helping to make this a special occasion for everyone.

This game is taking place at the ground which is home to the Northern Ireland national team and Linfield FC. Games were first played on this site in 1905. The venue has undergone several improvements since then and in 2016 a major redevelopment was completed. The £38m investment, supported by government, has transformed the venue into a top-class arena.

It has been the stage for many unforgettable matches and moments down the years. This evening's encounter between our visitors from England and Spain is guaranteed to join that illustrious list.

Enjoy the game!

Conrad Kirkwood

Enjoy your visit to buzzing Belfast!

Belfast is a city of buzzing culture and industrial prowess. Whether you are exploring the bars and restaurants of the Cathedral Quarter or visiting the birthplace of the world's most famous ship, there is something for everyone in Northern Ireland's dynamic capital city.

The first port of call for many is the stunning Titanic Belfast visitor experience. Voted the World's Leading Visitor Attraction in 2017, this shimmering landmark dominates the city's Titanic Quarter and has become a beacon for Northern Ireland.

Inside the building you will discover the story of the most famous ship in the world, the people who built her and the ship's ill-fated journey across the Atlantic Ocean.

Fine architecture is everywhere in Belfast. The grounds of Queen's University Belfast are well worth a visit and just outside the city you'll find the iconic Belfast Castle. And it's also a city full of parks and open spaces.

Belfast has become a food mecca and it's impossible to walk around the city without being lured in by world class food and an array of excellent restaurants.

The Cathedral Quarter was once considered Belfast's Fleet Street and was a centre for literature and newspapers. Today it's full of Belfast's young and hip and those in the know out for a night of craic and fine food. It's an upbeat cultural and nightlife zone which offers an impressive selection of cool cafés, great pubs, trendy bars and an amazing restaurant scene.

And Belfast now boasts three Michelin-starred restaurants – OX, EIPIC and The Muddlers Club. Only the best of homegrown produce makes its way on to their menus.

For such a small and compact city, Belfast has an amazing array of activities and attractions for you to choose from. It is one of those cities where there is a story on every street.

The city centre is a great place to start when visiting Northern Ireland's capital. It's home to the impressive Belfast City Hall, the bustling St George's Market and the main shopping district.

Start off in the Visit Belfast Welcome Centre (opposite City Hall) to pick up information, book tours and find out everything to make the most of your visit.

Justice Act (Northern Ireland) 2011

The Police Service of Northern Ireland and the Public Prosecution Service are committed to taking a robust stance towards tackling football-related disorder and hooliganism.

The legislation in Northern Ireland (the Justice Act (NI) 2011) creates offences to promote good behaviour by fans of football, to ensure the match day experience is a positive one for all those attending. This includes:

- Unauthorised pitch incursion
- Offensive chanting
- Missile throwing
- Possession of flares or fireworks
- Possession of alcohol on hired buses en route to regulated matches.

These are in addition to other more conventional offences.

The legislation also introduces 'Football Banning Orders' for the purpose of helping to prevent violence and disorder at Association Football Matches.

The Police Service of Northern Ireland will seek banning orders for any individuals involved in football related disorder. In the event of a conviction a Court will be able to make a banning order, prohibiting a person from attending Football Matches. The duration of the Football Banning Order will be determined by the Court and reflect the circumstances of the offending.

It is a Criminal Offence to fail to comply with a Football Banning Order.

The Police Service of Northern Ireland work closely alongside the United Kingdom Football Policing Unit. The details of any nationals resident in the United Kingdom, identified as involved in disorder, will also be shared with their relevant Law Enforcement Agency.

Public Processions (Northern Ireland) Act 1998

A person proposing to organise a public procession, or 'Fan Walk', in Northern Ireland shall give notice of that proposal either by,

- Sending it to the Police Service of Northern Ireland by permitted electronic means, or
- In person, by leaving it with a member of the Police Service of Northern Ireland, not below the rank of Sergeant, at the Police Station closest to the starting point of the procession.

Notice shall be given not less than 28 days prior to the date on which the fan walk will be held or, if that is not reasonably practical, as soon as it is practical to do so.

The application form for organising a 'Fan Walk' (11/1) can be found at www.paradescommission.org

Any person who organises or takes part in a public procession, or 'Fan Walk', where proper notice has not been satisfied shall be guilty of an offence and be liable for prosecution.
